NASCAR event
coming to racewayBy Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A press conference about a "major" upcoming event at Gateway International Raceway — most likely a NASCAR race — is scheduled for today in St. Louis.

Track officials could not be reached for comment, but on Tuesday the raceway announced that a press conference announcing a "major new addition" to the 1997 schedule would include NASCAR driver Kenny Wallace, a native of the St. Louis area.

Wallace races primarily in NASCAR's Winston Cup series, the top flight of NASCAR racing.

Wallace, along with his brothers Rusty and Mike, were all regular competitors at Tri-City Speedway in Granite City before joining the NASCAR circuit.

Gateway International officials have been meeting with NASCAR representatives about scheduling at least one event at the track this year, but had been waiting for an official announcement.

If speculation is correct, the NASCAR race would be the third major event for the track next year, which is now undergoing a $21.5 million renovation and expansion.

schedule three or four "major" events for the 1997 racing season.

Earlier this month it was announced that PPG IndyCar World Series would hold a major race on May 24. The week before the National Hot Rod Association announced that the Craftsman Nationals, a part of the Winston Drag Racing Series, would be held at Gateway June 26 through 29.

Jim Michaelian, executive vice president of Grand Prix Association of Long Beach Inc., Gateway International Raceway's parent company, said earlier this month that for the first time the oval track would start with about 45,000 seats and could be expanded to 85,000.

GOP targets Davis

Republican Jim Mihalich is trying to unseat first-term Democrat Steve Davis in the race for the 11th Illinois House District.

The 11th District has been targeted by the statewide Republican organization, which has been spending large amounts of money on television advertising characterizing Davis as a puppet of the Chicago Democratic machine.

Davis has said he will not respond with a negative ad about Mihalich and will not even mention his opponent in his advertising.

Mihalich said Davis is a target because he has been unable to compromise. The lack of ability to work with the majority party has resulted in Davis' zero success rate in passing bills he sponsored.

"This is just one more piece of evidence to show how voiceless we now are in Springfield," Mihalich said. "People need to take a good look at this. No state legislator, representative or senator, had less of an impact than Steve Davis."

Davis pointed out he didn't get any bills passed because the Republicans blocked them to make him look bad.

"They've targeted me since right after the (1994) election because I won by only 200 votes," Davis said. He said he is in good company at the bottom of the list of successful bill sponsors. Former speaker Mike Madigan is near the bottom of the list, too.

"Mike Madigan has been in the Legislature 25 years, and he didn't get any bills out, Jim McPike (former House majority leader), in his

School officials say neglect ignored

By Bob Slato
Staff writer

Granite City school officials and a man who befriended murder suspect Mary Alice Reynolds say their pleas last month for the Department of Children and Family Services to take custody of Reynolds' three children fell on deaf ears.

"It's just so frustrating to know that this tragedy might have been avoided," said Virgil Kambarian, principal at Marshall School, where 9-year-old Carl Barton and 5-year-old Amanda Lucas attend school.

Reynolds, 29, is charged with the murder of her two-year-old daughter, Toni Rae Lucas — Carl and Amanda's sister. Police said Reynolds has admitted to stabbing the toddler through the right temple with a large kitchen knife just before midnight last Wednesday.

Family members have said Mary Reynolds was high on methamphetamine the day of the stabbing.

"This is a classic example of a bureaucracy that is unable to meet the needs of the people. I don't want to blame DCFS — I don't know their policies or the staffing situation there. But it seems like some child has to die or get hurt before the system can change," Kambarian said.

He said Mary Reynolds called the school on the day of the alleged stabbing, acted strangely and wanted to take Carl and Amanda home early. But the school secretary dissuaded her.

"If DCFS was taking custody of the children, they didn't ever notify us," Kambarian said. "If she would have showed up, we would have had to let her take them. If not for the diligence of my secretary, there likely would have been two more dead children."

DCFS officials could not be reached for comment.

B.J. Neidhardt speaks softly and carries a big stick.

He is this week's Granite City Press-Record "Top Teen."

A senior offensive tackle for the GCHS Warriors football team, Neidhardt was named honorable mention All-Southwestern Conference last year.

But his skills are not limited to blowing away opposing linemen. He is a member of the 1996 Homecoming Court, Student Council, National Honor Society, the debate team, National Forensics League and Varsity Club. He is an All-American Scholar and participated in the Greater Belleville Area Youth Salute.

He plans to pursue political science and law degrees.

State OKs grant
for bridge workBy Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Illinois Governor Jim Edgar's office announced Tuesday that the city of Madison will receive a $200,000 grant toward the restoration of the old Chain of Rocks Bridge as a pedestrian-bicycle trail.

Gateway Trailnet Inc., a nonprofit organization devoted to obtaining and improving bicycle trails and green spaces, has been working with the city on the $3.4 million restoration project. The group has said renovation of the mile-long bridge is its top priority. About $2 million would be used for the bridge; the rest pay for approaches and amenities like parking.

"That's a real key element for us," said Ted Curtis, executive director of Gateway Trailnet.

The grant — through the Illinois Department of Natural Resources — is one of 22 grants totaling about $3.8 million.

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Mother charged with murder

The Madison County State's Attorney has charged a 29-year-old Granite City woman with first-degree murder in connection with the brutal stabbing death of her two-year-old daughter.

Mary Alicia Reynolds, of the 2800 block of Myrtle Avenue, was charged with first-degree murder in a warrant issued Monday. Police said Reynolds admitted to stabbing Toni Rae Lucas, her daughter, in the right temple with a large kitchen knife just before midnight Wednesday as the toddler slept on a couch.

Reynolds had been charged last week with attempted first-degree murder, aggravated battery of a child and armed violence. The additional charge was filed after the Toni died from the injuries at 5:40 p.m. Saturday at Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital.

Police say Reynolds gave no motive for the stabbing. The Illinois Department of Children and Family Services was in the process of taking custody of Toni and Reynolds' two other children.

Candidates pick up petitions

Three mayoral candidates are among the 15 individuals who have picked up petitions for the April election in Granite City.

Mayor Ron Selph will apparently have at least two challengers on April 1, when a city clerk, treasurer and eight aldermen will also be elected in the city.

In addition to Selph, Larry Severs of the 3000 block of Willow Avenue and Dewey Pettion of the 2500 block of Westmoreland had picked up petitions by Monday to run for mayor.

Vinegar caused death

A Granite City man brought to St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City in early September because of a drug overdose died not from the drugs, but from vinegar he was apparently forced to drink at a drug house in Venice.

On Thursday a Madison County Coroner's Jury ruled the Sept. 11 death of William E. Brandt Jr., 38, of Del Rio Avenue, Granite City, a homicide.

Officials said they are not exactly sure why the victim was forced to drink the substance, but it may have been given as a supposed "remedy" to an accidental drug overdose.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the official cause of death was respiratory failure caused by the aspiration of vinegar. She also said a toxicology report from a blood sample taken at the time the victim was admitted to the hospital showed heroin in the victim's bloodstream.

Burke said both the pathologist and toxicologist said they had never heard of that before and had no idea why somebody would think that would be effective.

Brandt died on Sept. 11 at SEMC. He had been brought to the hospital by a relative Sept. 5 after an apparent drug overdose in a drug house on Oriole Street in Venice.

Track work accelerated

The Illinois Department of Transportation is moving ahead quickly on plans for a new intersection at the entrance of Gateway International Raceway in Madison.

The improvements—which also include improvements to Ohio Street East of the intersection—are expected to be finished by May 15, a few weeks before the first major event at the renovated raceway's new oval track on Memorial Day weekend.

Madison eliminates treasurer

The Madison City Council approved abolishing the office of treasurer after accepting the resignation of current treasurer Frank Dutko, effective today, Oct. 31.

Dutko, who retired as Madison's chief of police in 1977 and served on the Madison County Board from 1980 to 1992, said he plans to move to Phoenix, Ariz.

An ordinance abolishing the elected position at the end of the current fiscal year was approved Tuesday.

At the end of the fiscal year—April 30, 1997—the city comptroller will take over the treasurer's duties.

Labor charge filed at Laclede

ALTON — A steelworkers union filed unfair labor practice charges against Laclede Steel Co. Monday over a planned two-week shutdown sparked by severe adverse business conditions.

The United Steelworkers of America Local 3643 charged that Laclede is violating its union contract in a complaint filed with the National Labor Relations Board in St. Louis.

Laclede served notice on its 829 Alton union employees last week that all plant production will be shut down during the Thanksgiving and Christmas weeks to cut operating costs.

A lack of orders prompted the shutdown," Laclede Vice President of Human Resources Bruce Nethington said. "We must have orders to support production."

In the first six months of 1998, Laclede officials reported that the company's net loss was $5.08 million on sales of $164.41 million.

Severe adverse business conditions, primarily the lack of product orders, are forcing Laclede to "shut down all production units at the Alton operations, with the possible exception of shipping, and laborer-related work, for the holiday weeks of Thanksgiving and Christmas."

Laclede Vice President of Operations William Hebenstreit said in a notice posted throughout the plant.

Steelworkers union local president

"It was a surprise and a clear violation of the union contract. I'm concerned that Laclede would even post a notice to encourage employees to violate the contract."

— Terry Wooden
Union president

Terry Wooden said he was shocked by the company's plan to close all the production units during the two holiday weeks.

"It was a surprise and a clear violation of the union contract," Wooden said. "I'm concerned that Laclede would even post a notice to encourage employees to violate the contract."

Under the union contract, Laclede could shut down production during vacation times from May to September, but not at other times of the year, Wooden said.

During the scheduled shutdowns in November and December, Laclede has offered employees several options, including the use of 1997 vacation time to make up for the days lost while production has ceased.

"The company is sneaking in the back door to try to get around our contract and force us to use next year's vacation time or face a loss of pay during the shut down," Wooden said.

During the shutdowns, employees have also been offered options of using accumulated 1996 vacation time, working as laborers in the plant yard or taking a layoff during the two holiday weeks.

Nethington, the Laclede official, said he was surprised that the union would file unfair labor practices against the company.

"I don't want to comment on the complaint until I see a copy," he said.

The company is looking at a variety of cost-cutting ideas at the Alton plant and a production shutdown is one of the methods to save money, Nethington said.

"The company is offering employees four options during the shutdown," he said.

The union has handed out fliers to its members urging them not to take a layoff and not to use their 1997 vacation time during the shut down.

"You are not obligated to take a layoff during the shutdown weeks because of the employment security agreement," the union told employees.

and as a way to get around their own commutes safely and efficiently," Edgar said. "The funds for these bicycle paths will mean increased opportunities to meet this growing demand."

Trailnet and the city have been negotiating a long-term lease for the bridge, which is owned by the city of Madison and was closed to traffic in the late 1960s.

When completed, the bridge would connect to the Riverfront Trail in St. Louis and the Vandalabene and Confluence Trails in Madison County.

The Missouri Department of Natural Resources is also working to purchase the Columbia Bottoms area north of the bridge, and would eventually build a bicycle trail connecting the Chain of Rocks Bridge to the Clark Bridge in Alton and the Katy Trail.

Curtis said he hadn't been notified about the grant, but said he was very pleased.

"It's really exciting; it's great news," he said.

Curtis said his group and the city were "real close" on the lease agreement, and he expected the agreement to be finalized and approved by the city by the end of November.

Once it obtains the lease, Curtis said, the group would put up a better gate at the bridge site and begin engineering and design work.

It will take approximately 18 months from the time work begins until the bridge is open to the public.

Curtis said the first phase of the project—which would make the bridge usable—will cost about $200,000.

He also said that he hopes the state of Missouri notices the Illinois grant and takes similar action in the future.

Trailnet had applied for a grant from the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, but was turned down—in part because it did not yet have the bridge lease secured.

"There will be some more grant applications," Curtis said.

So far, he said, the group has raised about $500,000 toward the bridge project.

He also said the group plans to kick off a major fund raising drive in the near future.

"We're really excited about this," he said. "There has been a lot of good news in bike trails."

"If you look at trails being put in in Madison County, Granite City is pretty much a hub."

The other major trail projects in Madison County are the Vandalabene Trail from Edwardsville to Horseshoe Lake State Park, and the Confluence Trail from Alton to the Eads Bridge in East St. Louis.

Both are projects of the Madison County Transit District.

Locally, the only other grant recipient was the village of Godfrey, which received $18,900 to provide amenities along the 16-mile Vandalabene Bikeway from Alton to Pere Marquette State Park.

"Each year the demand for funding exceeds the dollars available," said IDNR Director Brent Manning. "The competition is keen and that's a testament to the program and to the many community leaders who are working hard to improve the quality of life in their towns."

The grants are available to local governmental agencies, and are funded through the state's motor vehicle title transfer fees.

a man who befriended Reynolds, bought clothes for the children and took Carl to karate classes—first brought the alleged neglect to the attention of the school year. Kambarian called the child abuse hotline.

"As school officials, we are required by law to report physical abuse to DCFCS," Kambarian said. "But because the abuse was not physical and because it wasn't a first-hand account, DCFCS did virtually nothing."

"We've got kids here and we're concerned about their welfare. We call DCFCS and get no cooperation. It's just a frustrating situation."

Niemeyer, who said he is a reformed methamphetamine addict himself, said he was initially afraid of the repercussions of reporting the alleged neglect to DCFCS, but eventually called the agency in September after Kambarian told him the agency needed a first-hand account before any action could be taken.

"Those kids had no food. They had no clothes. They were unsupervised while their mother went out to buy drugs," Niemeyer told a reporter. "They were running around outside naked."

"I even spent $150 on clothes for Carl just before school started—shoes, socks, underwear, pants and everything. And she just returned them to the store to get money to buy drugs. I never thought a mother would take the clothes off her kid's back. But she did," Niemeyer said. "She spent every penny she had on drugs."

He said he befriended Carl and took the boy to karate classes because he knew first-hand what drug addiction could do to Reynolds and he didn't want the boy to fall into the same trap.

When Niemeyer first came to Kambarian with the case, he predicted that the children would all end up dead, Kambarian said.

"And if it wasn't for the diligence of my secretary, that would probably have happened," Kambarian said.

investigated by the Department of Children and Family Services.

The two surviving children, ages 5 and 9, were placed in protective custody Monday at the request of the Madison County State's Attorney's Office and DCFCS after the fathers of those two children waived a custody hearing.

The children, a 5-year-old girl and 9-year-old boy, were in the home when the toddler was stabbed. Police said Reynolds had been arguing with her brother just moments before the attack.

During her first arraignment Saturday, Reynolds asked a judge if her initial bond of $500,000 could be reduced.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes a consumer will order merchandise from a merchant, pay for the goods, and become dissatisfied with the purchase when the goods are delivered. The question sometimes arises as to what remedy is available to the buyer if the seller breaches the contract between the parties. A recent case involving a cabinet-maker and a homeowner will help to demonstrate how a consumer should proceed when there is a breach of contract by the merchant.

In this case, a homeowner and a cabinetmaker entered into an oral contract whereby the craftsman would make ten cabinets for a total purchase price of $3,200. When the first three cabinets were finished, the purchaser paid the entirety of the purchase price and awaited the delivery of the other seven cabinets. Several months later, two more cabinets were presented to the purchaser, but these cabinets did not match the first three.

At this point, the homeowner informed the cabinetmaker that he wanted his money refunded. The workman agreed to this and made a partial payment, but never paid the balance. Despite repeated demands by the purchaser, the craftsman continually refused to reimburse the balance owed by him. What options are available to the homeowner? He could bring a small claims complaint against the craftsman. The Court in this case would probably find that the cabinetmaker had breached his contract and enter a judgment against the defendant for the balance of the purchase price plus court costs.

The real problem facing the homeowner in this case is whether he can collect on the judgment. The homeowner indicated that the cabinetmaker was on the verge of bankruptcy and had no assets. Since the craftsman was self-employed, it would be impossible to garnish his wages. The purchaser could bring him to court on a citation to discover assets and ask the judge to order the defendant to pay a certain amount per month. In this particular case, however, there was a possibility of the cabinetmaker filing bankruptcy and discharging the entire obligation.

In cases such as this, the buyer frequently finds it impossible to collect on the judgment and therefore gives up pursuing the seller. Perhaps the lesson to be learned from this case is that the buyer should not pay the full purchase price until the goods are delivered and known to be satisfactory.

Pay raises approved for township officials

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

What is good for the city is good for the township. At a special meeting Tuesday of the Granite City Town Board, salary raises were approved for the township supervisor and assessor. The annual salary for the supervisor will increase to $20,000, effective in May, from the current level of $18,500. The assessor's salary will increase to $40,000 a year from $37,000. That increase takes effect Jan. 1, 1997. The raises were approved by a vote of 11-1. The action comes on the heels of salary increases approved for the city clerk, treasurer and street superintendent last week. Finance Committee Chairman Walter Milton recommended the raises be approved, and that no increases be made to the salaries of the 15 trustees and town clerk, who each receive $20 a month. Township Attorney William Schooley said the assessor and supervisor had not received raises since 1989.

Current Township Supervisor Bernie Hagnauer took over the position after the death of Nelson Hagnauer, who had been supervisor since 1961. Nellie Hagnauer had been a part-time supervisor, Schooley said, and Bernie Hagnauer had been a manager at the township office on a full time basis.

Bernie Hagnauer has been serving in both capacities since her husband's death, Schooley said.

Trustee Eddie Asadorian cast the lone dissenting vote. He said the supervisor's salary should be larger since it is now a full-time position; and that raises should have been given to the clerk and trustees as well.

"I don't feel that the raise for the supervisor was sufficient," Asadorian said.

Mayor Ron Selph, who also serves as a trustee on the town board, asked Schooley what would happen if voters decide by referendum in April to eliminate the township form of government.

Schooley said he has not researched the matter fully, but is of the opinion elected offices cannot be eliminated during the same election that the officials who fill those offices are chosen.

In other words, the township would have to pay the supervisor and assessor for four more years even if the township form of government is eliminated by referendum in April.

"And if you're going to pay them, they might as well do the work," he said.

Current Township Assessor Darlene Laub has picked up petitions and intends to seek re-election in April.

Bernie Hagnauer had not picked up petitions by noon Wednesday.

Mercantile Bank takes aim at Edwardsville area

A pending merger of St. Louis banking giants Mercantile Bancorporation and Mark Twain Bancshares Inc. is being hailed as a marriage that will make the banks a strong force in a highly competitive market.

Locally, it is also being seen as a way for Mercantile to penetrate further into the lucrative Edwardsville-Glen Carbon market.

Officials from both bank holding companies announced the upcoming union Monday morning, saying they have signed a definitive merger agreement. The deal is expected to be completed by spring 1997, pending approval by regulators.

Mark Twain has 39 locations in the St. Louis and Kansas City areas, Mercantile operates banks in Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Illinois and Arkansas.

In Edwardsville, Mark Twain has banking locations in Mark Twain Plaza and at 209 East Schwarz St. Mercantile has one branch inside Schnucks Supermarket, 2222 Troy Road.

"We're excited about it. It adds to the franchise and gives us a wider market to serve. Edwardsville is a good community to expand our presence," said A. Jesse Hopkins, chairman of the board, chief executive officer and president of Mercantile Bancorporation of Illinois.

Hopkins said he did not know the number of Illinois employees who will be affected by the merger or if any of the current Illinois Mark Twain locations might close after the merger. "We are going to look at the locations and see how they might overlap," with Mercantile branches, particularly the four Mark Twain locations in Belleville, Hopkins said. In past mergers, most branches have remained open after merging with Mercantile, he said.

Of Mercantile's $18.2 billion assets, about $200 million are in Illinois, he said. Mark Twain has $3.1 billion in assets.

The pending merger is the latest of several recent Mercantile acquisitions in Illinois.

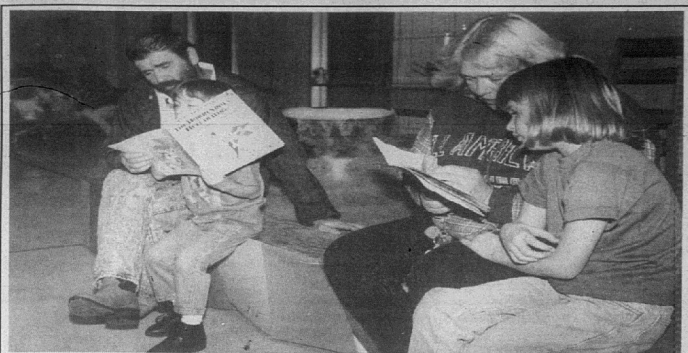

In August, Mercantile purchased the Bank of Alton. In September 1995, it affiliated with Metro Savings of Wood River. Mercantile merged with Wedge Bank (Alton Banking & Trust) in March 1995 and bought the GermaniaBank building at Alton Square in August 1995.

"This merger of Mark Twain with Mercantile brings together the strengths of two high-performing organizations and solidifies Mercantile's position as the largest locally managed and independently owned banking operation in St. Louis and the state of Missouri," said Thomas H. Jacobsen, chairman and chief executive officer of Mercantile Bancorporation, Inc.

Officials said Mark Twain directors unanimously approved the transaction and will vote their shares in favor of the merger. Under the agreement, Mark Twain shareholders will receive 9520 shares of Mercantile common stock for each share of Mark Twain common stock.

Banking giant NationsBank recently bought Mercantile's biggest competitor, St. Louis-based Boatmen's Bancshares.

Concert Chorale to perform at GCHS

The Concert Chorale of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will perform for students at Granite City High School at 2:15 p.m. Nov. 6.

The demonstration program is part of the internationally-known university choir's annual fall tour of the region. The 40-member Concert Chorale is under the direction of SIUE Music Professor Leonard Van Camp, director of choral activities for SIU's department of music.

The Chorale, founded by Van Camp in 1963, is made up of university students. Singers who have performed with the group over the past four decades have traveled worldwide and won several competitions.

A major portion of this fall tour's repertoire will include selections such as Salve Regina by Franz Schubert, Jubilate Deo by Giovanni Gabrieli, and selections from Missa Secunda by Hans Leo Hassler. In addition, the Chorale will perform three "Lincoln Selections", including El-n-oy arranged by Van Camp, The Gettysburg Address by William Stearns Walker, and Love and Praise by Kirke Mechem. Other selections will include Lord of the Dance by David Willcocks and Choose Something Like a Star by Randall Thompson.

Incidental pieces include three spirituals: No Hiding Place, arranged by Joseph Wood, Deep River, arranged by H.T. Burleigh, and Ezekiel Saw de Wheel, arranged by William Dawson.

For more information about the fall tour, call the SIUE department of music at 692-3900.

Editorials Endorsements

On Tuesday, voters across the country will help determine the future of our nation. In the Tri-Cities area, residents will select governmental leaders on all three levels — federal, state and local.

And the choice, for the most part, is a relatively easy one, depending on your political philosophy. So many candidates are basing their campaigns on their party affiliation that few common sense candidates — those who develop their position issue by issue rather than based on a particular party platform — are seeking office.

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello is the exception to the rule. Costello is one of the few candidates who can accurately be labeled "moderate." While a staunch Democrat and strong supporter of working men and women and President Bill Clinton, Costello's record shows that he votes in the best interest of his constituents even if it means bucking the party line once in a while. He is one of the few congressmen who put aside partisan politics and voted in favor of several GOP-sponsored measures that were in the best interest of the country (the line item veto, for example). He is a pro-life Democrat and pushed for language in the party's platform that recognizes those with similar views. He has proposed reform to a campaign financing system that is out of control. Jerry Costello is a breath of fresh air in the world of backroom politicians and deserves to be re-elected in the 12th Congressional District.

The rest of the races on the federal level boil down to basic political philosophy. While rhetoric sponsored by Clinton and Sen. Bob Dole would have you believe they represent middle-of-the-road Americans, each man's record speaks plainly about his beliefs and the direction he would lead the country. The same is true in the race for the seat of retiring U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, Democrat U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin and Republican Al Salvi, a state legislator, represent ultra-liberal and ultra-conservative ideals, respectively.

The choice is simple — although perhaps distasteful. Those who support the Democratic agenda of big government and workers' rights will vote for Clinton and Durbin. Those who believe in the Republican agenda of big business and buy into the "rich-get-richer" philosophy of trickle-down economics will vote for Dole and Salvi.

Unfortunately, there is no candidate for the rest of us. The Libertarian (Harry Browne Reform (Dorothy Natural Law (John Hagelin) and so-called Taxpayers (Howard Phillips) candidates not only represent the lunatic fringe, they also represent so many chances to waste the important privilege and responsibility to vote. As one member of our editorial board suggested, there is a temptation to "hold your nose and vote your heart." As another pointed out, there are advantages to having one party in control of the White House and Congress at the same time. On the other hand, because of the extremism of candidates this election cycle, splitting control of the executive and legislative branches could help curb the foolish excesses of either side.

But we think that Bill Clinton has accomplished much in the past four years — despite a GOP-controlled Congress during the last two. He has a handle on the deficit. He has good ideas about the complex issue of health care. Bill Clinton deserves a chance to continue that progress.

In the senate race, one area of expertise sets the candidates apart: Durbin is head and shoulders above Salvi on important foreign policy issues simply because Salvi has not been exposed to them in the Legislature. Even Salvi admitted in a recent debate with Durbin that he is not familiar with the issues.

Simon has been a leader — respected by both parties — on foreign policy and his replacement should at least be familiar with the issues; certainly the soon-to-be senior senator from Illinois is woefully inadequate, if not damaging to U.S. interests. Vote for Dick Durbin for U.S. Senate.

Locally, voters will also choose state legislators and countywide officials next week.

Those residing in the 11th Representative District, which includes Alton and Granite City, can re-elect Democrat Steve Davis a long-time public official, or put Republican Jim Mihalich, a businessman-turned-politician, in office.

Mihalich points to Davis' admittedly ineffective legislative record over the last two years. But Davis hasn't been given a chance to effectively simply because the Republican majority has conspired to put him out. The GOP has targeted this district for two reasons: Davis was the hand-picked successor of powerful Democrat and former house majority leader Jim McPike; and Republican candidate Ted Prehn did remarkably well two years ago against Davis.

Jim Mihalich has been endorsed by the governor and other upstate Republican leaders. If elected, he will be beholden to them.

But Steve Davis continues to go to bat for the working men and women who make up the majority of the district. He has proposed a workers' bill of rights that clearly spells out what he represents. His 98 percent voting record on labor issues is outstanding. Mihalich says that Davis cost downstate schools hundreds of thousands of dollars. If you even begin to believe Davis was responsible for that loss, ask a teacher who he or she will be voting for in the 11th.

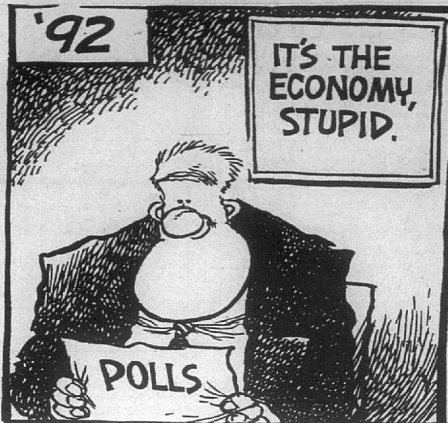

Steve Davis deserves re-election. In the 11th Representative District, including Belleville and Granite City, incumbent Democrat Tom Holbrook faces a challenge from Republican newcomer Paul Whelan. Whelan has an impressive record as a college administrator and is familiar with aviation issues crucial to the future development around Scott Air Force Base and Mid-America Airport.

But Holbrook has been loyal to Granite City-area residents. He set up a district office in Granite City even though most of the district lies to the south. When local officials need assistance at the state level, they can count on Holbrook — who even managed to get some legislation through the legislature in his freshman term.

Tom Holbrook deserves to be re-elected in the 11th District.

Long-time representative Wyvetter Youngue, a Democrat, faces only token opposition in the 11th District, which includes East St. Louis and Granite City. As a leader on the house floor, she continues to fight for

Salvi would bring change

TO THE EDITOR:
After all of the analysis, experts and pundits have had their opportunity to paint and spin the current election, the American people will still have to look hard for the truth.

It will not be a quest for truth in the political arena, but also for the truth in their hearts and within their souls. The last few decades we have seen our country — once firmly established on a Judeo-Christian philosophy — being led down a road that has tried to promote the idea that government programs can replace personal responsibility and religion. This social experiment is doomed to fail as it has failed throughout history, no matter what culture or civilization.

Citizens who thirst for true change in government would do well to look at Al Salvi who is seeking election for a Senate seat for Illinois. Salvi can be described as a bleeding-heart conservative, a person who believes you can be traditional, responsible and compassionate. Salvi is a family man who believes it takes a family and not a village; a representative who will defend our freedoms and liberties with the clear vision of common sense; a Catholic who lives his faith by supporting the positive "culture of life" versus the brutal violence to the unborn. Al Salvi alone will not turn our country around; that will still remain our personal responsibility. But leaders lead, and Al Salvi can lead us to a more noble and proud future.

Durbin is right person for job

TO THE EDITOR:
Sen. Paul Simon's decision to retire from the U.S. Senate will mark the end of a distinguished political career. He was often referred to as the conscience of the Senate and throughout his political career, his ethics, compassion and common sense has made all of us proud.

Simon will be missed by the United States, and most especially by southern Illinois. He represents everything that is still worthwhile in American politics.

We need a good, honest individual to replace Simon, and I believe Dick Durbin is the right person for the job. It is well known that Simon has been a strong supporter of Mr. Durbin's campaign to replace him as the next Senator of Illinois.

It would be a real tragedy for all of Illinois if Al Salvi, the radical, right-wing, wealthy Republican lawyer from Chicago, should be elected to replace Simon. He is a very ultra-conservative politician.

I wish Sen. Paul Simon the best of luck in his retirement,

Overpasses would help

TO THE EDITOR:
I have read the article printed on Sept. 8, 1996, called "Railroad Problem to be Discussed." Many people have been calling you saying we need more train overpasses, and I agree with them because we have to wait 15 minutes just for a train.

If we had more train overpasses, we wouldn't have so many train/crashes. The cars would be going over the trains. People wouldn't try and beat the trains. People could wait to where they are going a lot faster and on time with train overpasses. They wouldn't have to wait on the train if they are running late. They wouldn't have to take some of their time away by going and taking the highway.

Also, emergency vehicles could get to an emergency faster. They wouldn't have to wait for a train to pass. There wouldn't be so many gates broken. Trains wouldn't have to blow their whistles so much and so loudly.

I hope that the city gets more overpasses because my family is getting tired of waiting for trains to go by.

No raises for city officials

TO THE EDITOR:
On Sept. 25, 1996, I read an article entitled "pay raises proposal defended." It's about the tax (increase) so that (elected officials) can have a raise. I believe that they should not get a raise, because all it does is raise our taxes. Taxes are high enough with all the people on welfare and everything. The park and school district have already raised the taxes. They also raised the pay for garbage service.

The raises wouldn't take effect 'til 1999, anyways; that's three years away. Just because they haven't had a raise in 10 years doesn't mean they need another one. All it does is raise the taxes for Granite City. Can we really afford this raise without a tax increase? I don't believe we can. If it does, the city will probably not have as nice parks or schools. What would people rather have, a clean park for your children to play and good schools for your children's education or have some people get a raise? If they give them this raise, that's what's going to happen. If you don't stand up for your children's and your future. Some parents don't have the money to pay for all these changes. So why should we change anything when it's already hard to live now?

4 county officeholders face opposition

Auditor Bathon in battle against John Finnegan

Two-term incumbent Madison County Auditor Fred Bathon faces a challenge Tuesday from Republican newcomer John Finnegan, who says he quit his job to run for office.

Finnegan, of Alton, criticized Bathon for not providing County Board members with a way to make an early retirement program work for county employees.

Finnegan, a former marketing specialist at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Granite City, said he will push for "down-sizing" county government if elected.

Bathon said the early retirement program was simply too costly for the county, and that cutting more employees to make it work was not something the County Board wanted to do.

Bathon said the role of the county auditor is to provide quality financial information, monitor public works and a pursue improvement in county government.

Finnegan said he served as an office manager at the county auditor's office in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), Ohio, from 1972 to 1980 and will put that experience to work for Madison County if elected.

"I started to get involved in politics again recently, and when they heard about my experience, they asked me to run," Finnegan said.

Bathon has been auditor for two four-year terms and was deputy county auditor for almost eight years. During his county employment, he also served as part-time treasurer for the city of Madison.

Bathon touts his record, saying he has provided an improved payroll system, new technology, improved budget variance system and expanded departmental audit programs.

Bathon said he wants to continue helping the county reach a balanced budget annually without a tax increase and to acquire new technology, in addition to pursuing more accurate financial projections and auditing procedures.

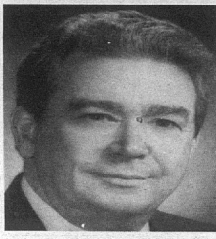

Finnegan said he would pursue a program of public education about the auditor's office and county taxes, because many people he has met during the campaign seem bewildered about both topics.

He said he supports tax caps and would like to make it easier for the public to petition for tax reduction.

Polley, Carnell vie for county board seat

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

In the only contested county board race in the Tri-Cities area, Chouteau Township Supervisor Pat Polley and Ron Carnell of Hartford are facing off for the 16th District seat, which is being vacated by Tim Knott, who failed in his attempt to unseat incumbent State Rep. Steve Davis in the Democratic primary.

Polley defeated Nameoki Township Clerk Helen Hawkins in the primary election.

Polley, 63, is a 40-year resident of the area and has been Chouteau Township supervisor for the past three years. Before that, she was township clerk for 21 years.

A high school graduate, Polley said she has "extensive background in grant applications on the county, state and federal levels," and also has extensive knowledge of budgets and tax levies.

Widowed, she has three grown children and four grandchildren.

Polley also serves as the state president of the Clerk's Division Township Officials of Illinois, and served six years as the director of the group.

She is also a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Lodge 1126 and Amvets Post 51.

Polley said she is "honest, trustworthy and deeply committed to the community and to the people whom I represent."

She added that she wants to actively seek resident participation in decisions affecting their neighborhoods and "keep an open-door policy for ideas and suggestions."

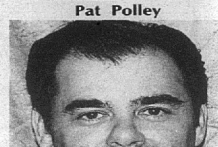

She also wants to maintain good working relationships with other elected officials in order to upgrade and secure additional pumping facilities for the area.

"There is strength in unity," Polley said. "By working together, much can be accomplished."

"I welcome the challenge of leadership as county board member and need my experience and background in these areas gives me the knowledge and skills which is essential to function as an effective county board member," she said.

Pat Polley

Opponent Ronald G. Carnell, 45, of Hartford, has been an electrician for the past 27 years. For the last eight years he has worked for Zeller Electric, Inc., in St. Louis.

Before that he worked for 19 years for Conagra in Alton. He has never held public office, but was involved with the Hartford Park Development Committee for two years, and also served as a Sunday school superintendent.

Carnell said he is running because of the "skyrocketing taxes and an apparent disregard by current board members" in voting themselves large pay increases. He is also seeking a permanent property tax cap.

Burke faces fight from Hampson

Richard Hampson knows he faces an uphill battle against 24-year incumbent County Coroner Dallas M. Burke.

Both candidates are registered nurses and claim experience in a coroner's office. But Hampson said the key to the election is that Burke no longer performs as coroner and thus requires an unnecessary deputy coroner.

Burke counters that claim by pointing to her long record of improving the office. She said the office now requires a full-time head who is not always in the field.

Burke has been handsily re-elected six times as coroner. Her office employs four full-time and two part-time deputy coroners. Pathologists are held on retainer by the office for autopsies.

Burke pointed out that she has fulfilled many promises in her career, such as opening the first county morgue in Southern Illinois, computerizing all records and attracting a professional staff.

But Hampson attacked Burke on her staff and the efficiency of the office.

"I would perform as coroner," Hampson said. "It's pretty clear she doesn't respond to calls, and thus employs one more person than is necessary."

Burke said she does respond to calls on occasion.

"I'm still a backup, but there needs to be a qualified person here to answer calls," she said.

Hampson was once a deputy coroner in St. Clair County. He is now a nurse manager for emergency services at

Burke

Touchette Regional Hospital.

Hampson said he has worked in emergency rooms and critical care as a nurse for 25 years.

Hampson claims he has talked to emergency officials, mostly in rural eastern areas of Madison County, who complain about long waits for a deputy coroner to arrive at a death scene.

Richard Hampson

Burke said Hampson's allegations about response time are false, adding that there have been no documented cases of long waits for an investigator.

Both candidates said they would push for more public education about injury, death and disaster prevention.

Sponeman challenging Melucci

Collinsville real estate broker Arno V. Sponeman says frustration over filing for eviction orders led him to challenge incumbent Madison County Circuit Clerk Matt Melucci in Tuesday's election.

Sponeman, a Republican, said the office can do a better job at simplifying instructions for people who file for evictions and for small claims.

"The whole office needs to be more user friendly," he said.

The circuit clerk's job is to keep records of all court transactions in the county, from felonies to child support to evictions.

Democrat Melucci said he has already simplified his office for the public, including the production of a brochure on how to file in small claims court.

Melucci, also of Collinsville, is seeking his second four-year term in the office. He is well known in Southern Illinois for his work as a public administrator, having chaired the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council in the early 1980s and as Congressman Jerry Costello's chief of staff. Melucci was also the first county director of administration.

Sponeman said he would like to save money in the office by tapping into the federal office equipment surplus. He said he wants to centralize the various offices of the circuit clerk in the courthouse.

Sponeman, who owns a Collinsville travel agency, also pledges to return a salary increase approved for the office by the County Board last year.

Melucci said the raise is necessary to stay competitive with appointed county positions. He said he is proud of a new computer system installed during his term that provides one system for people calling to inquire about court matters.

The system cost about $450,000.

He said he wants to make records even more accessible by offering on-line services and an interactive voice response system for people calling to inquire about court matters.

Sponeman said he realizes the importance of technology and would push for greater computerization.

Doucleff challenging Donohoo

Chris Doucleff said he is running for office partly because, as a real estate appraiser, he finds it difficult to access information in the Madison County Recorder's office.

The political novice said that he kept that in mind when Republicans asked him to run against incumbent Democratic Recorder Dan Donohoo in next Tuesday's election.

"I think people need a choice instead of going to the ballot and seeing just Democrats," Doucleff said.

"As a homeowner and taxpayer, I think we are taxed too much and I would like to see a smaller recorder's office."

Doucleff is also part-owner of a new restaurant in Alton.

Donohoo said he is seeking re-election because he thinks he is doing a good job. The office is responsible for processing and recording deeds and deeds transactions on every parcel of property in the county.

Donohoo is proud of his handling of rapid computerization in the office, including installation of a dial-in system for land records and a system that links his office to the offices of Madison County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments.

Donohoo said he has saved the county $500,000 in recent years because of efficient purchasing practices.

Donohoo said his goals are to continue advancing the office's computer services and database.

Specifically, he hopes to establish an optical imaging system to speed information retrieval, a CD-ROM database and an on-line Internet service.

Doucleff said he would reduce the size of the staff in the office and increase efficiency at the same time.

He also said he would refuse a pay increase for the position approved last year by the County Board.

Holbrook, Whelan face off in 113th

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Voters in Illinois' 113th Representative District, which includes Granite City and Belleville, must choose between two candidates with exceptional backgrounds to represent them in the legislature.

Incumbent Democrat Tom Holbrook, 46, of Belleville, has been a public servant for more than 15 years. He served on the St. Clair County Board for 14 years before being elected to the legislature two years ago.

While a county board member, Holbrook served as chairman of the Public Safety Committee, vice chairman of the Judiciary Committee and served on the Intergovernmental Grants, Executive, Transportation, and Task Force committees. He was an early supporter of both joint use of Scott Air Force Base and a light rail extension to St. Clair County.

He gave back a pay raise to the county during a budget crunch in 1985 and helped pave the way for two county jail expansions in 1988 and in 1992 — and a county parking garage.

An employee of Ethyl Corp. in Saugeat for 24 years, Holbrook has been a union member for 27 years and union official for 17 of them, including president, secretary, treasurer, district council representative and trustee.

He holds a bachelor's degree in social science and government from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and was twice selected "Outstanding Young Man in America," having been nominated by the Belleville Jaycees for the award in 1984 and 1986.

He was the recipient of the Kennedy Award in 1967 for his volunteer work with handicapped individuals.

More recently, Holbrook has served on the Appropriations/Education, Counties and Townships, Transportation and Motor Vehicles, and Veterans Affairs committees in the state house.

Holbrook said he has been tough on crime, fought hard for funding for local schools, and supported legislation that benefited seniors and other taxpayers.

Specifically, he voted to eliminate the early release of most violent criminals, to allow counties to create boot camps, to allow police K-9 officers to do their jobs and to eliminate prisoner privileges.

Holbrook keeps district offices in both Belleville and Granite City, and often holds town meetings and open office hours so that constituents can voice concerns and opinions.

He and his wife Holly have one daughter, Susan.

Republican challenger Paul Whelan, also of Belleville, holds a wealth of educational and career qualifications for the office.

A former dean of the school of business and the school of aviation and transportation at Dowling College in Long Island, N.Y., Whelan holds a doctorate in history from the University of Tennessee, a master's degree from the University of Tennessee

Two from GCHS named to awards program

Amanda Solomon and Amanda Crabtree, two Granite City High School seniors, were recently named by Principal Bill Rotter as the school's honorees in the Prudential Spirit of Community Awards program.

The award is presented for outstanding, self-initiated community service. Solomon and Crabtree are now eligible for the state competition, where two honorees will receive a $1,000 award, a silver medallion and an all-expense-paid trip to a national recognition event in Washington, D.C. next spring. Ten national honorees, named during the Washington, D.C. event, will each receive an additional $5,000 award, a gold medallion and a trophy.

Drug search upsets some

By Ron Wisdom
Staff writer

A drug search last week at two Collinsville schools — Collinsville High School and North Junior High School — turned up very little, but it was enough to stir up parental emotions and be proof to one school board member that changes in the district's current drug and alcohol policy need to be made.

On Thursday, K-9 police units from Collinsville, Caseyville, Granite City, Illinois State Police and the Madison County's Sheriff's department were used to comb both schools for drugs.

A 13-year-old girl was found in possession of drug paraphernalia and an 18-year-old CHS student was charged with possession of cannabis under 2.5 grams.

Scott Penny, Fairmont City's chief of police and a member of the Unit 10 school board, said he was pleased that the search yielded very little, but that a 13-year-old girl charged with possession of drug paraphernalia is reason enough to make changes in district policy.

"This is a typical case for the school board — drug paraphernalia and/or a small amount of a controlled substance, generally just enough for personal use," said Penny. "These are the children we need to reach out to. They are still at an age where we can shape their behavior and put them on the right track."

Penny is currently serving on a committee with board member Virgil Kassing that is looking into ways to better the district's current drug and alcohol policy. Penny said he would like to pursue drug counseling as an alternative to expulsions.

"If you don't think an expulsion doesn't affect every single home in the school district, then the girl at (North Junior High) is a perfect example. Here is a student that will more than likely be suspended for 10 days while waiting to be expelled. So we are talking months here that a 13-year-old without supervision — because today most families have working parents — will be walking the streets in the communities that these people live in."

The mother of a North Junior High School student was upset because her son's lock was cut off his locker during the search. But school officials there had no record of the locker being assigned to the student.

"I really appreciate what they're doing as far as the drugs, because I know there's a problem," she said. "I just don't agree with the way they handled it."

Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski, the father of a CHS sophomore, said he was outraged over the search.

"I send my daughter to school to learn, not to be harassed and embarrassed by others, including uniformed police officers," Rekowski said. "The schools are supposed to protect our students, not expose them. That's not what I send my daughter to school for."

Penny said he does not have any problem with disciplining students caught breaking the drug policy, but he does not want to turn his back on them.

"I agree that they need to be removed from the classroom — both for punishment reasons and for the sake of the rest of the students — but I disagree with shoving those students out on the street and letting them go without supervision."

Petitions containing 139 signatures from teachers and staff were given to the school board last week in opposition to any change in the district's current policy.

The policy review committee meets Nov. 15.

Whelan is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force, retiring at the rank of colonel. His military decorations include the Air Force Commendation medal with two oak leaf clusters, Meritorious Service with three oak leaf clusters, Air Medal, Bronze Star, and Distinguished Flying Cross.

He continues to serve on a number of aviation education boards, and consults regularly on aviation administration, leadership management, organization and executive development with special emphasis on aviation matters.

Whelan said he is committed to education, safety and economic development in the area. "We need to stop crime before it starts," he said. "We must keep kids off the streets and in the classroom. We must demand accountability for crimes."

He said better schools can be financed by more efficient use of funds rather than higher taxes.

"And we must create jobs which will take this region into the 21st Century and welcome small businesses in our community," Whelan said.

Whelan and his wife, Pat, are parents of three children. They are active members of Queen of Peace parish.

first two years, got only one bill out," Davis said. Mihalich pointed out that other Democratic legislators were successful in getting bills passed. He noted Evelyn Bowles, D-Edwardsville, had nine of her bills signed into law.

Davis pointed out there is a lot more to being a legislator than getting bills signed into law. "I spend a lot of time on constituent services. Constituent services can make or break a legislator, and it's a part of the job I love because you can make a difference in people's lives," he said.

Mihalich, a former administrator for the River Bend Growth Association, says reduced workman's compensation premiums, through further caps on benefits, will help attract jobs.

Davis, a former Wood River Township Road Commissioner, is emphasizing education funding and is calling on the Republican administration to come up with an economic development package that will attract new business.

Mihalich was once a Democrat and union leader who worked for an hourly wage from the telephone company. He later became disillusioned with the Democrats and took a more conservative tack before becoming a Republican. He was promoted through the ranks and retired as personnel director at Ameritech before joining the Growth Association.

As a man who was paid to attract new business, Mihalich became concerned about the high cost of doing business here. He advocates caps on punitive awards under workers' comp to reduce litigation and insurance costs. The result would be more jobs and a stronger economy, he said.

Davis' first concern is to iron out problems in education funding in a state in which he said Downstate school districts have suffered at hands of the Republican majority. Last year, the GOP effectively ceased funding for the rich Chicago area "collar counties," Davis said.

"In Madison County, we spend $5,000 to $6,000 per pupil per year, while in Dupage County, they spend $10,000 to $14,000 per pupil per year."

Warriors top 'Dogs in regional win

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Officially, it was a minor upset.

But the fifth-seeded Granite City Warriors didn't play like underdogs Tuesday night as they dominated the second half to beat the fourth-seeded Highland Bulldogs 3-0 at Highland in the regional finals of the Granite City Sectional.

The Warriors used a balanced attack and stingy defense — in spite of the loss of primary marking back Eric Wilkerson to an eye injury — to shut out Tim Marks and the Bulldogs.

GCHS improved to 11-7-4 and will face top-seeded Collinsville in the sectional semifinals at 5 p.m. today at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. In the other semifinal, O'Fallon, a 2-0 winner over Edwardsville Tuesday, will meet the winner of Wednesday's match between Triad and Belleville West.

The semifinal winners will play for the sectional championship Saturday at SIUE.

Marks, a senior striker, led the Metro East in scoring with 30 goals, including four game-winners — and — assisted for the Mississippi Valley Conference co-champion Bulldogs (15-7-0).

But GCHS junior back Josh Hickam dogged Marks for 80

Dane Bauer (20) gets past a pair of Highland players during Tuesday's 3-0 victory. The Warriors (11-7-4) advanced to the Granite City Sectional semifinals and will meet Collinsville (13-5-2) at 5 p.m. today at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

minutes and teamed with keepers Jeremy Smith and Alex Bausch to pitch the shutout.

"I thought Hickam really stepped up his game tonight," GCHS coach Gene Baker said after the game. "We asked Josh to mark Marks and he stayed with him all night."

Wilkerson would normally be assigned that task, but did not play because of a scratched corner, Baker said.

With the exception of an apparent GCHS goal that was disallowed on an offside call, the first half was fairly evenly played. All of the scoring took place in the second half on the windy, rain-soaked field.

Scott Mills tallied the game-winning for the Warriors with 3:18 left in the first half on a beautiful feed from junior Mason Czar.

Corey Winfield and Kyle Briggs also scored for the Warriors, who played most of the second half in the offensive third of the field.

New coach. New regional. Same results.

The Granite City High School girls volleyball team is back in the regional finals, this time at the East St. Louis Class AA Regional. The second-seeded Lady Warriors advanced through a competitive 15-7, 15-12 victory Tuesday over No. 4 Cahokia.

GCHS, now 14-18, will play in the championship match at 7 p.m. today against the Lincoln Tigerettes at the East Side gymnasium. Granite City won the Edwardsville Regional last year with an upset win over top-seeded Triad, which was 24-5 at the time.

Lincoln (11-16-2) is the top seed of this week's regional, but a GCHS victory tonight would not have nearly the same shock value. First-year coach Amy Cole's Lady Warriors defeated Lincoln in a regular-season Southwestern Conference match without two of their starters in the lineup. GCHS went 4-3 in SWC matches this year, while Lincoln was only 2-4.

"My only concern is whether or not we'll come out ready to play," Cole said. "If we're ready to play, we can beat a lot of teams. If we're not (See LADY WARRIORS, Page 28)

Stephanie Brandt (right) goes up for a spike. GCHS will face Lincoln tonight for the East St. Louis Class AA Regional championship.

Metro East league set for debut

Ten Metro East high schools will constitute the Southern Illinois High School Bowling Conference (SIHSBC).

Local bowling proprietors and high school athletic directors worked side by side to create the SIHSBC structure and schedule. After a lot of hard work from both sides, the conference is ready for its winter debut. Participating schools, listed by division, are:

Bowling

— North Division: O'Fallon, Lebanon, Marissa, Mascoutah, Westcliff.

— South Division: Belleville East, Althoff, Cahokia, Freeburg, Belleville West.

Schools will host matches in their home centers as follows:

— St. Clair Bowl: Lebanon, O'Fallon.

— Bel-Air Bowl: Belleville West, Althoff.

— Freeburg Bowl: Freeburg, Marissa.

— Panorama Lanes: Belleville East.

— Village Bowl: Cahokia.

— New Baden Bowl: Westcliff.

— Mascoutah Community Lanes: Mascoutah.

Each school will have four teams: boys and girls varsity and junior varsity. Teams will consist of eight players with a playing strength of four. There is a 13-game schedule. Each team will play teams in its division twice and each team outside its division once.

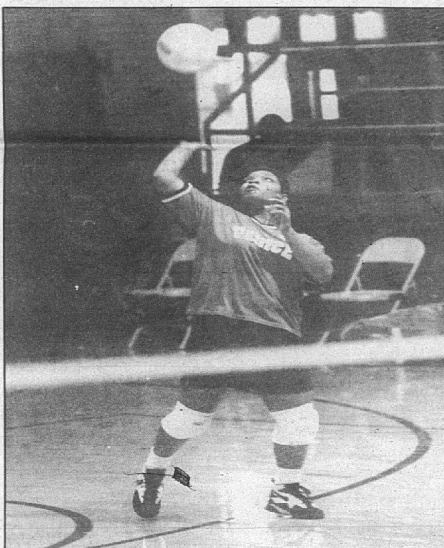

Tryouts will start Nov. 11, with the season commencing Nov. 26 and ending Feb. 4. The girls sectional and state tournaments will be Feb. 8 and Feb. 14-15, respectively, at sites to be announced. The boys will follow Illinois High School Association guidelines except for the end-of-season tournaments.

Students who participate in fall YABA youth and travel leagues and become members of the high school teams will not be able to bowl in their respective leagues during the high school program. They can bowl prior to and after the high school season is over. This also includes Gateway and Grand Prix events that offer scholarship funds.

While SIHSBC bowlers can't earn scholarship money until they are seniors, their performance during high school will be monitored by colleges for future scholarships.

Mike Imes will be the SIHSBC commissioner for the first season. He is youth director for IEC (Inactive Entertainment Centers), with an office at St. Clair Bowl.

For more information, call Imes at St. Clair Bowl (632-2400).

Lady Midgets end Red Devils' season

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

The Freeburg Lady Midgets eliminated Venice from the first round of the Althoff Class A Regional on Tuesday, coasting to a 15-1, 15-1 decision over the Red Devils.

The Lady Midgets, who entered the match favored as the No. 3 seed behind area Class A powers Althoff and Gibault, feature an experienced roster with four seniors and six juniors. Venice (4-17) was the No. 6 seed and completed what has been a major rebuilding assignment for third-year coach Charlotte McDaniel.

What did surprise McDaniel was the substantial margin of defeat. The Red Devils, despite having four juniors and a sophomore among their six starters, had been competitive in many of their regular season matches.

There were quite a few games we were in position to win and we ended up losing only 15-13 or 15-12 or something like that," McDaniel said. "I think we put a little more (offseason) practice, this is going to be a much better team next year. We just didn't have the same experience in terms of skill level as most of the teams we played. That was part of the problem (Tuesday).

Another was the superior front row size of Freeburg, which has several 5-foot-6 regulars and makes frequent use of 6-3 sophomore Jill Buckman. The Lady Midgets dominated the net with power spikes and were already more than halfway to victory in the first game before Venice finally scored.

Venice's tallest starter, 5-8 junior outside hitter Danyell Miller, usually starts the match at the left back row position. Venice also was without 5-3 junior hitter Pia Berry — the team's best all-around athlete — who missed the regional match attending to a Granite City junior Eddie Connolly closed out the season Saturday with a 30th-place finish in the East St. Louis Class AA Regional.

GCHS runners look to future

By Brian L. Jones
Correspondent

The prep cross country season has concluded for Granite City, but the foundation has been laid for next season.

GCHS coach Tom Haefer used his best varsity lineup for the first time last Saturday. The GCHS boys placed eighth at the East St. Louis Class AA Regional. Haefer entered the only three girls in the program, so the Lady Warriors did not score as a full team.

The top five teams in both divisions — plus the top five individual runners not from those teams — advanced to the Centralia Sectional meet this weekend. The young, rebuilding Warriors got no one through, but an encouraging sign for Haefer was the team-leading performance by junior Eddie Connolly in the boys race.

Connolly just missed qualifying by one place as the sixth finisher among runners from non-advancing teams. Connolly covered the 3.0-mile Frank Holten State Park Course in 17 minutes and 40 seconds for 30th place among 64 total runners. The fifth and final individual qualifier, Cahokia's Roderick Dotts, placed 27th in 17:14. Between those two were team qualifiers Jamie Franklin (28th in 17:25) and Dante Foley (29th in 17:34) of Lincoln.

ready, we're in trouble. We'll push back if we get pushed, but we can't afford to get overconfident."

Cole reminded her players in practice Wednesday that Lincoln can be unpredictable. The Tigertettes went winless in four matches recently at the Freeburg Invitational Tournament. However, just a few days before that, they looked impressive with a third-place showing at the O'Fallon Invitational.

Lincoln also has one of the area's top middle blockers in 6-foot junior Monica Powell, who can take charge of a match at any time. Tamika Bean at outside hitter is another dangerous leader on an experienced Lincoln team with three seniors in the starting lineup.

Veteran Lincoln coach Hubert Butler also has a hungry team anxious to reverse the course of having won only one regional title (in 1993) since the 1982 season. The Tigertettes easily disposed of fourth-seeded East Side in their Tuesday semifinal, 15-1, 15-7.

Being the hometown representative tonight should give them an advantage in crowd support, though GCHS attracted several fans for the Cahokia match.

"I'm sure they're thinking this is the year they might be able to get it done," Cole said of Lincoln. "They're a scrappy team and they looked pretty good (Tuesday). They've got good size at the net, so we'll have some competition. But, season on a bad note, so we hope to be a lot more in synch in the championship match."

GCHS got its typical strong net hitting from Tapp, the 5-11 Brandt and 5-9 middle hitter Kelly during the GCHS loss to Edwardsville in the third-place match of the Southwestern Conference Tournament.

some good practices over the last three weeks, Haefner said. "That's encouraging. I'm looking to Eddie for leadership next year because we're losing Robert (Lampitt)."

Connolly's time dropped 50 seconds from the 18:30 he ran the previous week at the Southwestern Conference meet, albeit on a more hilly terrain at Alton's Gordon Moore Park.

GCHS sophomore Jeff Hassell had run an 18:17 in the SWC junior varsity race, but Connolly beat Hassell by 47 seconds at the regional. Hassell was the team's No. 4 regional scorer with 47th place in 18:27.

"Jeff Hassell's a kid with a lot of natural ability," Haefner said. "Eddie is just beginning to think of (cross country) running as something to be taken as seriously as he does running track. He sees the younger kids moving up on him in times and he's reacted to it."

Lampitt was the only GCHS senior in its seven-man regional lineup. He concluded his prep career with 35th place in 17:54. Lampitt was ninth in the battle for the five individual sectional berths.

Sixth-place Edwardsville was the culprit in keeping both Connolly and Lampitt from individual advancement. EHS had two qualifiers among the top five, while two more Tigers were among the four runners separating Connolly and Lampitt.

"Robert's been a true leader as captain of our boys team," Haefner said. "He's focused on what it's about. He gets out and runs the course with the new kids. He shows them where they need to be and where to turn on an unfamiliar course. He keeps the group under control when the coach is busy."

The Warriors' No. 3 regional runner was sophomore Kevin Atkins, who placed 18:03. Freshman Dan Robinson was the fifth scorer with 50th place in 18:59.

The regional was the first varsity race of the season for Hassell, Atkins and Robinson, who have each to follow Connolly's lead.

"Dan, Jeff and Kevin all run very well together as a pack," Haefner said. "They've run exceptionally well for kids that young. Dan's not as strong as the other two yet in the last mile because he's only a freshman. But he's a wrestler and he will become more mature physically."

Others in the GCHS regional crew were sophomores Nathan Bain (58th place) and Jerod White (61st). They both joined the team midway through the season and are hoping to challenge for a scoring position next year. Sophomore David Ellis also ran into those plans when he recovered from nagging injuries that slowed him down since late September.

GCHS senior Heather Melf, a talented track runner, ran her last cross country race in the girls division Saturday and finished 42nd in 15:55. That placed her ninth in the individual hierarchy. Her time was an improvement from 16:12 at conference.

Junior Crystal Robinson battled back from injuries to finish 43rd in 16:07, while sophomore novice Xiamara Padilla ran 64th.

Haefner's goal is to surround Robinson and Padilla with a complete team next year. The 196 season was a growing process for the Warriors and for Haefner and assistant coach Paul Greaves as new organizers of the program.

"For me, it's been exciting to see each kid make strides," Haefner said. "Two of them (Robinson and Atkins) have already told me they are interested in running over the summer. If they all do that, they're going to come back and I'm going to have a decent beginning on a good team."

Officials needed
The Granite City Park District is currently looking for basketball officials for adult leagues, to be played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7, 8 and 9 p.m. The leagues run from Nov. 19 to March 1997 and are played at local middle and elementary schools.

Anyone interested should call Ray Hoffman at the Wilson Park office, 877-3059.

Adult basketball league
The Granite City Park District is starting a 35-and-older basketball league. Games will be played on Wednesday evenings at Prather Elementary School or Grigsby Middle School. The league is open to players 35 years old during the current calendar year.

Registration is now being taken, and the fee is $230 per team. For more information, call 877-3059.

Boys basketball tournament
The annual KMOX Metro Collegian Boys Basketball Tournament will be held Dec. 20-22 and Dec. 27-29. There are divisions for fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth-grade teams, with a three-game minimum.

For more information, call Joe Bond at (314) 945-3032.

For more information, call Joe Bond at (314) 945-3032.

All-star tryouts
The St. Louis International Youth Baseball Association will select an all-star team to play baseball in Australia in March 1997. The team is open to boys born March 30, 1985, or later. For more information, call Al Bond at (314) 945-3032.

prior commitment. Berry, a state track sprinter, led the Red Devils in kills and blocks. "Freeburg had about 10 or 11 points before we got one, so we were never really in it," McDaniel said. "I would just say their players were better skilled because they played a more polished game. Lakeisha Coburn is my only senior player, but she's also one of my better players at about 5-1 or 5-2. Freeburg has a lot more height."

What the Red Devils lack in size, they make up for in quickness and athleticism. The players simply need more time to fine-tune their games.

Unlike most established prep programs in the area, Venice has no feeder programs in volleyball from the elementary or junior-high levels.

"We have to do a lot of teaching of the fundamentals, which makes it difficult for us to build," McDaniel said. "Charmyne Griggs is one of our best players, but she's only a sophomore and this is her first year playing volleyball. She's got some talent. She's about ready to take off next year and become a very good player. We've got other girls like that."

and Edna Burton (5-2) are expected to form a solid senior nucleus next season. But with Mosby and Burton being undersized front row players, the 5-7 Griggs will have to play a more vital role at the net.

As for this year, Coburn was the only returning player who started full time on the '95 team that won three matches.

"This was Keisha's third year starting and she was my team captain," McDaniel said. "She's a pretty skilled player, so I usually used her as my server."

McDaniel promoted sophomore Danielle Terrell to the varsity level late in the season and she also became a quality server in the bench rotation. Sophomore Danielle Porter (5-4) was one of the top front row players on the junior varsity team and will surely make a varsity impact next fall.

Other JV leaders waiting their turn are freshman sisters Voinisha Rogers (5-3) and Latasha Rogers (5-5).

"Charmyne Griggs is a very dedicated player," McDaniel said. "In fact, she didn't play her freshman year because she wanted to make sure her academics were in order first. If we get that kind of dedication as far as getting ready for next season, we should win more matches. But we're still going to be young."

A first-half goal by Scott Mills (right) stood up as the game-winner in Granite City's regional victory over Highland.

•Warriors

with the wind in the first half. But that gamble didn't pay off.

"I thought maybe we could make something happen in the first half and then possibly hold them off," Meyer said. "But it didn't happen."

"We played our hearts out and had a good chance to get a goal in the first half, but (GCHS) keeper (Jeremy Smith) came up with the big save on (Mills') breakaway. "I think they finally wore us down about midway through the second half."

Meyer had nothing but praise for the effort of both teams.

"Granite City is really a balanced team. They've got a good defense and put five guys back there. And that Briggs can go both ways. He's solid on defense and has a great shot," Meyer said. "I wish them all the best. They're a great team."

Baker also praised the Warriors' play.

"It was kind of a test of character for us to come back from that called-back goal," Baker said. "A lot of people have been playing us down. But right now we're pretty good."

Specifically, Baker said seniors Eric Edwards, Mills and Briggs; juniors Hickam, Jonas Janek, Mason Czar and Smith; and sophomore Corey Winfield put forth exceptional efforts.

"Scott Mills is a catalyst for us out there. And of course Kyle does what he does for us so well," Baker said. "I thought our wing backs played real well. It was a good, balanced effort."

Mills' game-winner came late in the first half from just inside the 18-yard line. Czar placed the ball past two defenders and onto Mills' foot with a nifty header off a long pass.

The streaking Mills omitted it past Highland keeper Matt Barnett.

Winfield's goal came at the 60:50 mark as he found himself all alone with the ball near the 18-yard line to Barnett's left. Winfield kept the ball close for about three touches toward the goal before firing a low shot just inside the far post.

Briggs finished the scoring with 7:10 left to play with a low shot on a direct kick restart from about 25 yards out.

Highland crossed the mid-field stripe only eight times in the second half — all on long balls. The Bulldogs had to settle for the most part with clearing balls from their defensive third and then regrouping as the Warriors resumed the attack.

In addition to dominating possession and scoring chances, Granite City held a statistical advantage as well.

The Warriors outshot the Bulldogs 19-5 and held an 8-0 edge in corner kicks. GCHS was whistled for six fouls, while Highland was called for seven.

Is an Oscar in offing for 'Collins'?

In the United States, little is known of the man who helped set up the Irish Free State in the early part of the 20th century. Now, his story is movingly told in Neil Jordan's "Michael Collins," a compelling and passionate ode to guerrilla warfare and freedom-fighting.

Jordan, who won an Academy Award for his screenplay for "The Crying Game," has created a fast drama filled with breathless performances from Liam Neeson in the title role, Alan Rickman, Aidan Quinn and Stephen Rea.

Certainly Neeson, overlooked last year for his portrayal of Rob Roy, stands a good chance of an Oscar nomination for his work as Collins.

At the heart of "Michael Collins" are strong themes of loyalty, friendships and freedom. As a member of the violent Sinn Féin, Collins and his followers helped force the British to reconcile an Irish Free State. At the same time, they efforts spurred on the violence that continues today in Northern Ireland.

Brash, idealistic and impassioned, Collins joined the Easter Uprising in 1916. As the movie begins, the Irish revolutionaries are forced to surrender and face a British firing squad—all except Collins and his best friend, Harry Boland (Quinn), who are imprisoned. When they are released, they find themselves the new leaders of the independence movement.

Eamon De Valera (Rickman), Sinn Féin president and an American citizen, leaves Ireland to raise money in the United States. He takes Boland with him, leaving Collins to rally the cause in Ireland.

And Collins does, using his Irish Volunteers to terrorize the Brits and bring them to the point of capitulation. When De Valera returns and resumes control of the Volunteers, he orders Collins to serve as chief negotiator with the British.

As Jordan portrays it, the job is a set-up. But Collins accepts, despite his formal protests. He returns with a treaty establishing the Irish Free State but partitioning the country. Though accepted by the Irish Parliament, De Valera rejects the treaty and walks out with his followers, including Boland, which results in the outbreak of a civil war.

Neeson, who was born in Northern Ireland, adds credibility to the driven freedom-fighter. He soars gracefully in the role, with an emotional depth and charming commitment. Quinn and Rea add a proper, understated support. And as Collins' cinematic nemesis, Rickman is the perfect, imperious foil.

Chris Menges' photography lends graphic immediacy, but casts the amber shadows of a bygone age.

Unfortunately, the film is marred by a tepid romantic subplot that neither enhances the story nor moves it along. At best, it serves only to interrupt the narrative and add a degree of unwanted silliness. And, as Collins' love interest, Julia Roberts is as exciting as a tub of cold Irish oatmeal.

The Giffen Pictures release was written by Jordan, with Stephen Woolley as producer and Redman Morris as co-producer. "Michael Collins" opened in the United States on Friday.

Horoscope

Thursday, Oct. 31

The Cancer moon is stirring. We are now ready to deal with emotions that seemed much too heavy before. Affairs flourish with just a bit more attention. May, December romances blossom sweetly. This is the period for long-term relationships to find new life. Those in authority give younger people a hand up. Service industries have enormous growth today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You've accommodated others long enough. A loved one is anxious to know you need him or her. Perverse colleagues must be disregarded. A trip opens a whole new horizon. Try love with a Leo.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your dreams are prophetic, so try to remember them. Be frank with a boss about your financial expectations. Raises come from actions taken now. In-laws finally agree with you. Stepchildren turn to you for advice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A Cancer has a crush on you but will never come clean. Join in on a meeting. Your opinions find wide acceptance. Pleas to parents are successful. Business struggles make you need your partner more.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). It's appropriate to make the most of single life. New insights into romantic expectations. A job disappointment is only temporary. Demonstrate your independence only if you really feel it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You are forceful. Money is easier to collect. Family dilemmas strain a current romance almost to the breaking point. You've neglected aspects of your life, and new perspective is needed. An Aries infuriates you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (October 31). You are much more progressive in both thought and deed this year. Your long-standing emotional barriers finally come down, making your love life truly stylish this winter. Wait until then to make serious changes in your love life. Taurus and Capricorn want old-fashioned, solid, committed relationships. Family businesses prosper and thrive in July. Children bring pride with scholarships in May and June.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).

Let someone know how much he or she pleases you. Employers take advantage of your good nature. Get someone else to negotiate for you. Cousins interfere with family harmony. Snap romantic judgments backfire.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). It's nice that you are not jealous, but by being too permissive, loved ones feel that you don't care enough. A little game-playing produces marvelous results. You have luck in financial dealings.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). You've earned respect — now, make sure you are given it by the people you care for the most. Investigate financial irregularities. Explanations are unsatisfactory. An Aries holds the key to your heart.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). A trust exercise will help a relationship grow. You've gotten caught up in the trappings of success. Re-evaluate your goals now. Travel gives you needed breaks. Salespeople succeed in new fields.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Say no without hesitation, and stress disappears. Fatigue keeps you from enjoying what a new love can give you. Don't categorize yourself. Women help you in surprising ways. Be tactful with criticism.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Personal realizations free your creativity. Talk out the problems, even if they are difficult to solve — don't walk away. Social attachments you make now are worth more to you than you realize.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You gain by letting others win, so concede a point. Keep in touch with out-of-town friends. The real world of a friend is not yet apparent. You have fabulous designing or inventing talents. A Libra charms you.

McKendree slates a host of special events

Special events, professional performances and student productions highlight the entertainment offerings of the 1996-97 McKendree College Fine Arts Series.

Nov. 1 the Fine Arts Series will feature a trip to the St. Louis Symphony.

McKendree's students also move to center stage in November with the student theater production of "The Diary of Anne Frank," Nov. 7.

8 and 9. The McKendree College Choir will present its annual Christmas Concert Sunday, Dec. 8 at 3 p.m. in Bothwell Chapel. The concert is free and open to the public.

Also in December, the McKendree Cantori will hold a Madrigal Dinner at 6:30 p.m. in Pearsons Hall on Thursday, Dec. 12 and Friday, Dec. 13.

Reservations are required. Tickets for the dinner are $15 and may be reserved by calling 618-537-6856.

The Bach Chamber Chorus will perform Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. in Bothwell Chapel. The chorus is composed of members of the highly acclaimed Bach Society of St. Louis.

The chorus, under the direction of Dennis Sparger, will perform choral works of Bach as well as other famous composers.

The McKendree Cantori Winter Concert and a trip to the Fox Theater in St. Louis are on the Fine Arts Series schedule in February.

The cantori will perform their Winter Concert 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 26 and the college will provide transportation to see "Sunset Boulevard" at the Fox at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27. Ticket purchase for Sunset Boulevard is based on availability. The cost is $37 for Middle Balcony seating. McKendree students may purchase tickets at half price.

Saint Louis Brass Quintet takes center stage March 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Bothwell Chapel. The quintet's performance ranges from the light music of P.D.Q. Bach and Dixieland to the great music of the masters for brass, from the works of today back to the magnificent baroque.

Saint Louis Brass Quintet accentuates concerts with humorous antics and a zaniness that audiences love. Jennifer Shadle Peters, an accomplished vocalist who established the Edwardsville Children's Chorus, will conclude the McKendree College 1996-97 Fine Arts Series with a performance April 29 at 7:30 p.m. in Pearsons Hall.

Peters is a soloist who has performed in roles from opera to musical theater. Her vigorous vocal recitals provide an excellent evening of entertainment.

The Fine Arts Series is an extension of McKendree's belief in providing a solid liberal arts education. The series provides education and entertainment opportunities for McKendree's students and for the surrounding community.

Individual Fine Arts Series performances are $6 for adults, $5 for senior citizens, $4 for students. McKendree students are admitted free.

For more information about McKendree's Fine Arts Series, please call 618-537-6857.

Craft time — The Presbyterian Women club of First Presbyterian Church at 22nd and Delmar will hold a craft sale on Saturday in the church basement. Pictured with some of the items for sale are Burdine Holtzsch, Jeanette Livingston and Barbara Landis.

Presbyterian Women's bazaar Saturday

The First Presbyterian Church's Evening Circle met Oct. 15 in the home of Betty Schmiedake.

Chairperson Burdine Holtzsch presided and opened the meeting with an inspirational poem. Minutes were read by Secretary Bette Rea.

The Yearbook of Prayer, remembering the Presbytery of San Francisco, was given by June Jones, followed by prayer.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin entitled, "A New Kind of Storm," written by Stephanie Lee, a voice from Canada, was read by Barbara Landis.

It was announced that the Presbyterian Women's annual bazaar will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 2, at the church.

A report was made by Gladys Fuhrman on the birthday party for the residents of Colonnades Nursing Home on Sept. 30.

Members were reminded of the spaghetti dinner on Sunday, Nov. 17, hosted by the "Outriggers." This final celebration of the 90th anniversary of the church will have as its theme "Look to the Future."

The lesson, "Encouraging Jesus Through His Baptism and Testing," was presented by Landis, who stressed that one can clarify how to follow Jesus more obediently and with greater understanding by carefully examining the stories of His baptism and His testing.

A discussion followed, and the lesson concluded with a prayer in unison. As the members formed a circle and repeated the Mizpah, the meeting closed.

Dessert was served to Fuhrman, Holtzsch, Jones, Landis, Gladys Pape, Rea, Shirley Yates, and Lillian Delps, a guest.

HOW TO...

PLACE AN AD

There are four easy ways to place your ad. BRING IT: 1815 Delmar Ave., Granite City, IL 62040.

PHONE IT: Call 877-7700 or dial 876-2000. Phone lines are open from 8 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

FAX IT: Send your ads directly to our Classified Fax Center at 618-876-4240. We'll call you back for confirmation.

MAIL IT: Send your ads to: Classified, Granite City Press Record Journal, 1815 Delmar, Granite City, IL 62040.

PAY FOR AN AD

You will be billed immediately following last run day. You may pay in person, through the mail, or over the phone or fax. We accept cash, checks and credit cards (MC/Visa). Tell them up front what you want to pay for (e.g., Discover). When paying over the phone, please have your credit card ready. When faxing your ad, just include your credit card number. We'll call you back for confirmation. Please do not send cash through the mail. Some ads require prepayment.

WRITE AN AD

Capture the reader's attention with large headlines, bold type, and symbols. Tell them up front what you're selling or seeking. Describe what is unique about your item, adding details such as color and condition. Avoid abbreviations they make your ad harder to read and therefore less effective. Include your phone number and the hours you are available. Always include the price; it will increase your responses.

CANCEL AN AD

Deadlines for ad cancellation are identical to deadlines for ad placement. You may cancel an ad in person or over the phone. To cancel an ad, phone 877-7700.
